

Call for Nominees
2012 ICSC RESEARCHER AWARD FOR OUTSTANDING SERVICE

The ICSC Researcher Award was established in 2007 by the ICSC Research Department—at the request of its North American Research Task Force—to recognize researchers who have contributed their time, talents and efforts on various ICSC research initiatives. This Award will be conferred on someone who has demonstrated a consistent and significant commitment and contribution to ICSC’s research programs. This would include, but not be limited to, writing (contributed articles to ICSC’s Research Property Insights, for example), planning (involvement with program committees), speaking at ICSC Research events, advising (sharing knowledge through our research advisory groups) and those instrumental in fostering industry benchmarking through data sharing.

All ICSC members in good standing may nominate individuals for the award along with the rationale why the person should be recognized. Once the nominations are collected, the chairs and vice chairs for each of ICSC’s research groups will consider the nominations and may endorse individuals for this recognition.
