This safari will feature:

- An introductory presentation laying out key retail development trends, featuring a variety of inspiring international examples
- In-depth visits to around 3 of London's leading retail developments
- A chance to meet the professionals behind some of London's leading initiatives
- Informative commentary covering strategies, statistics and transferable ideas
- Travel between developments in a private executive coach
- Lunch break at one of London's most memorable developments
- Discussion and networking with other retail real estate professionals, helping you turn the initiatives you experience into concepts that will work for your development

A limited number of tickets are available, so book quickly to secure your place!

In order to let attendees eat and drink exactly what they would like, the cost of lunch is not included in the ticket price. Lunch (main course, dessert and a drink) is likely to cost approximately £15 per person.
